Young zoning recommendation fails

Village Board must now decide

The Zoning Board of Appeals fell one vote short of recommending the rezoning of the Young property on north Main Street from single-family to multiple-family use.

The final vote of the Zoning Board was actually three in favor of the rezoning and two opposed. However, Village Clerk Marilyn Sterbenz pointed out that the Board's by-laws require four votes — a majority of the entire Board — to recommend a change in zoning.

Chairman Grant Spong declared that since the motion for a favorable recommendation did not receive the required four votes it would have to be reported to the Village Board as a recommendation to not change the zoning.

Zoning Board members Peter Cleven and Dr. Edward Warner were unable to be present for Monday night's meeting.

Harold and Alice Young's petition for rezoning has been before the various Village bodies since last September. The Planning Commission recommended denial of the request on September 13, and repeated that position last month. The Zoning Board had discussed the matter in several meetings and finally voted Monday night.

Now it is up to the Village Board of Trustees to consider the recommendations and make a final decision to either grant or deny the petition. It is expected to come up at next Monday's meeting.

Although the Zoning Board members present at the meeting took part in the discussion, Spong and Tom Haley were most vocal in arguing the two sides of the question.

Haley led off with the statement that the primary objection on the part of the planners seemed to be concerning the density permitted in an R-5 zoning area. The only way the north Main area could be re-claimed, Haley suggested, would be through new developments of multiple-family projects.

He took the position throughout the discussion that the Village Board could negotiate with the Young's on a limit to be placed on the density of any development of their property.

Spong, on the other hand, cited the various objections raised by the Planning Commission and others. He pointed out that the Young's have stated that they are not working at present with any particular developer, and asked the Board members what they thought of such speculative rezoning.

His arguments centered around the point that if this particular rezoning were granted, the Board would be faced with requests from numerous other property owners on north Main.

"What do you think the neighbors are here for," he asked, indicating the presence of several north Main property owners in the audience? "If you grant this R-5, you'd better be ready for the neighbors to come in. As sure as God made green minds Friday was flooding.

All of the 25 who testified at a public hearing of the Chain-O-Lakes Study Commission — about half of those present — agreed that flooding is a serious problem. They pleaded that something be done soon to alleviate the problem.

Fox Lake is going to become a ghost town and we're going to have swamps here, if we don't do something fast," stated John Eckert. He was actually disagreeing with several of those who had suggested that the water level in the lakes should be lowered, but he found general support from the audience on his point that the situation is urgent.

Testimony ranged from the simple statement of an individual situation, to recollections of what it was like "when we first moved out here," to detailed recitations of statistics, to criticisms of the State or County for not dealing with the problem.

About the only statement that was anywhere near being contrary came from Fred Schau of Fox Lake, who cautioned the Commission against rushing into an apparent "solution" without serious study. However, he reassured the citizens that he was in sympathy with them all, as he himself had to take a rowboat to his home during the high water seasons.

"For us to try to conjure up visions as to what should be done, without a very definite and concerted and positive study of the entire area being made," Schau said would be foolish.

Possible solutions suggested by those testifying included: dredging the lakes and channels, building locks in the downstream dams, stricter erosion control measures, regulation of filling in swamps and building in lowlands, expansion of sewers, restrictions on large and fast boats, establishment of a boating season, and construction of a winter dam at the old Grass Lake Road bridge.

Despite the stress placed on the problems affecting the Chain, a definite optimistic note sounded through the hearing.

Marianne Eichler told the Commission members and the

Remove studded snow tires

Michael J. Howlett, Secretary of State, today reminded motorists that studded tires must be removed from vehicles by Monday, April 1.

Howlett said the period for use of studded tires on passenger cars, formerly October 1 through May 1, was reduced by 2½ months through legislation approved by the last session of the general assembly and signed into law by the governor.

The new law now prohibits use of studded tires until November 15.

apples, it's going to happen," Spong warned.

Haley countered that he did not agree with the planner's recommendation on the matter. "I think the Village is getting cheated on their $20,000," he said. He pointed out, too, that the neighborhood already contains several multiple-family projects.

Spong contended that this was a problem situation that had to be stopped somewhere. He also questioned the legality of Haley's suggestion that the Village negotiate a limit to the density.

Finally, Haley moved to recommend acceptance of the petition, with a request to the Village Board to reconsider the density on the R-5.

Haley, Earl Pape and Richard Burnette voted in favor of the re-zoning. Frank Kuechenmeister voted against.

Spong declared the motion passed; though, he added he thought the Board members had "acted in haste."

At that point, Mrs. Sterbenz raised the question of how many votes are needed in order to make a recommendation. She referred the Board to Article 9, section 2, of the by-laws, which states: "A concurring vote of four members of the Board shall be necessary . . . to recommend any variation or modification in the ordinance to the Village Board of Trustees."

After much discussion of exactly what this section meant, it was suggested that Spong's added vote might resolve the situation. Spong was not immediately receptive to the idea. Ultimately he requested the Board to go into executive session to "kick this around."

About 20 minutes later, the Board returned, and Spong said: "I got no help. I vote 'Nay.' The petition is denied."

He cited the speculative nature of the rezoning, the problems of sewerage and density, the negative recommendation of the Planning Commission, the pressure created for additional rezoning in the area, and the resultant traffic problems as reasons for his decision.

Afterward, he pointed out that since the motion did not receive a sufficient number of votes, it would have to be reported as a recommendation to deny the petition.

A Holiday for us all

"Do you think that the things people make fools of themselves about are any less real and true than the things they behave sensibly about?"

So asked the late George Bernard Shaw in his play "Candida." His question reminds us that the traditional holiday to be observed Monday, April 1, is truly meant for us all.

Who among us has not been the fool at one time or another in his life?

Shakespeare tells us in his play about that tragic fool, King Lear, that "When we are born we cry that we are come to this great stage of fools."

And Henry Fielding comments that there is "One fool at least in every married couple."

The fool has been praised and condemned, ridiculed and envied, sought after for his simple wisdom and mocked for his folly, throughout the ages.

Spring is most of all the season of fools. Perhaps the "fever" of the world coming to life again compels us to lose hold of our senses, as the young man whose "fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love."

Of all aspects of our humanity, perhaps love has been most often associated with "foolishness" and "fools." This is done in jest by those who do not know love. But those who have truly experienced it know that love is, indeed, most foolish.

In the cold, hard world of reality, it makes least sense.

What it comes down to is that we are all fools. And in a world which sometimes seems so grim, a touch of foolishness is a welcome quality.

The foolish thing, in fact, is to fail to recognize our foolishness.

With these thoughts in mind, Happy April, Fools!

Council for the President

The request of counsel for the President to appear and cross-examine witnesses in the pending impeachment inquiry threatens serious dissension among Members of the House Judiciary Committee. The request contemplates both active participation when witnesses appear before the Committee and also when testimony of witnesses is taken at deposition hearings. The Democratic Members of the Committee have taken the position that the request should be denied insofar as deposition hearings are concerned. The Republican Members adopted a diametrically opposite position.

As it stands now, all Members of the Committee support the request of counsel for the President to appear at hearings before the Committee in Washington with the further privilege of cross-examining witnesses. However, the granting of a similar request at deposition hearings remains in limbo.

Difficulties in resolving this issue result from the absence of adequate precedents. While it has been traditional to grant requests of respondents to appear before the Committee in person -- or by counsel -- there are no instances where evidence has been adduced by deposition in any earlier impeachment proceeding.

It is the position of this Member of the Committee that procedures should be followed which would apply uniformly whether testimony is taken before the Committee or at a deposition hearing at some place other than Washington. In the alternative, nonresident witnesses should be brought to Washington to give testimony in order that the rights of the

Dear Editor:

The article on the front page of The Antioch News, Wednesday, March 13, 1974, regarding the flooding conditions on the Chain O'Lakes, upset me terribly. Mr. Murphy's reference to the Director of the Conservation Department "...Nero fiddled while Rome burned..." is in no way true.

The Department of Transportation, Division of Waterways, is the controlling agent of water levels on the Chain O'Lakes. This fact was set by legislation and must be changed by legislation. However, I can understand how Mr. Murphy would not be aware of these facts; after all, it takes a lot of time to operate a campground in Wisconsin.

Mr. Murphy's statement regarding flooding conditions which were non-existent a few years ago is not entirely true. There has always been a flooding problem in the low-lying areas of the Chain O'Lakes, because these areas are what is more commonly known as flood plain.

If I can jar the memories of a few of the long-time citizens of this area, and take you back to 1960, you will recall the devastating flood which the Chain O'Lakes experienced and again the 1962. After these terrible floods you might recall the many floods along Nipper-

President may be protected equally with regard to all evidence adduced by the Committee.

It is generally asserted that a search for truth is the basic criterion of all Members of the Committee. It is acknowledged likewise that cross-examination is a useful practice in arriving at the truth. In addition, it seems highly advisable that the rights of the President in the impeachment inquiry should be treated with complete fairness.

Only by granting to the President the right to be represented by counsel -- with the privilege of cross-examining witnesses who appear against him can the Committee fully -- and fairly -- perform its full Constitutional responsibility.

sink Creek. But how could we expect someone who was not concerned to recall these situations?

I would now like you to recall the years after the floods of 1960 and 1962, how the water was drained from the lakes in November, causing the pool level to be so low that the ice layer in many areas reached the bottom of the lakes, in some cases including a part of the lake bottom. When the ice broke up in the spring, the shoreline was covered with thousands of dead fish and plant roots. This is known as winter kill, and definitely not a condition the Department of Conservation promotes.

Now you might look back at these years to which I am referring and recall how quickly the water quality of the Chain O'Lakes dissipated and how annually the fish population seemed to be disappearing. You might ask why?

Well, I will tell you why: vegetation is the key to aquatic balance. When vegetation is not present, nothing desirable can survive in the aquatic world.

The annual freeze-outs killed the vegetation and the increased boater traffic made the water so turbid that sunlight could not penetrate to the depths of the lake where the freeze-out had been unable to destroy the vegetation. Hence, the less desirable plant life took hold; plant life which is referred to as "algae" for it lives on the surface where the sunlight can reach it, thus causing it to thrive in a stagnant world in which it does its best.

This is not the total epitaph for the Chain O'Lakes, for there are many other factors brought to bear. But it is one of the main problems and it seems funny to me that the people who were least concerned with the survival of our lakes when they were dying are the very ones who are screaming loudest now. As the old adage goes, it sure is nice to have someone to blame for your past disconcert.

No Longer a Powder Puff

"You've come a long way, baby!" might well describe the status of girls' sports in the State of Illinois and at Antioch High School in particular.

Two years ago, athletics for girls in the state were limited to intramural activities -- the so-called "powder puff" teams that got together whenever the boys weren't using the gym.

At Antioch the situation was, perhaps, a bit better. Athletic Director Ward Lear said recently he thinks that girls have gotten "a fair shake" at the school as far as use of facilities is concerned. The Physical Education program includes a certain number of "stations," and, according to Lear, "the girls go through the same basic programs and use of facilities as the boys."

Where the girls have been "shortchanged" in the past, in Lear's opinion, is "by the State leaders, in not providing for girls' competition."

That attitude has changed, as two years ago the Illinois High School Association officially recognized, for the first time, interschool competition among girls. The State now recognizes 14 different sports for girls and sponsors State tournaments in four areas: golf, tennis, bowling and track.

Antioch got off to a late start in girls' competition because of budgetary problems two years ago. In this, the first year of such competition at Antioch, teams have been fielded in five sports: bowling, volleyball, basketball, gymnastics and track.

However, Lear commented, "I think our program is further along in one year than many of the other schools are in two." Part of the reason, he added, is that some schools tried to cover too much too quickly.

Last year, Lear pointed out, the Northeastern Illinois Suburban Association, a 20-school league of which Antioch is a member, tried to recognize 12 sports for girls' competition. Because of this large number, many did not draw much participation.

The Northwest Suburban branch of the Association has now recommended that girls' competition be cut back to 8 sports -- the same number as is recognized for boys in the league.

Lear said that, because of the lack of provision for girls' competition in the past, some members of that sex are now overly ambitious, wanting everything at once.

"You just can't do everything overnight," he said. "Programs have to grow and be developed."

The ten schools of the Northwest Suburban Conference would like to sponsor competition among their own girls in the following areas: Field Hockey and Tennis in the Fall; Bowling and Volleyball in the early Winter; Basketball and Gymnastics in late Winter; and Softball and Track in Spring.

Lear revealed that he has recommended to the High School Board that Antioch participate in all except tennis. This is because the school has no facilities for that sport.

With three of the five seasons completed this year, a total of 70 girls at Antioch High have been involved in interschool competition, Lear stated.

Twenty-three girls participated on the bowling teams. Usually, three five-girl teams bowled at a time. In the State tournament Antioch's team won its first match, but then lost out.

Volleyball attracted 31 participants, who competed on two teams of 15 each. The A-team completed the season with a 4-2 record, while the B-team was 3-3.

Each of the two basketball teams played seven times, and each ended the season with a 4-3 record. Twenty-nine girls were involved in that sport.

Currently, about 20 girls are working out in various phases of gymnastics. They have participated in a number of meets, in which the girls are scored individually and earn team points based on how well they finish.

Next week the girls' track team will begin warming up for a mid-April season opener.

The girls on the gymnastics team exhibit a determination in their practicing. If they can be taken as an example, the girls exert as much effort as any team of young men.

The problem, according to Lear, is a shortage of willing or qualified coaches for the girls. Some schools, he said, have no one on the staff who can take the job. There is also a shortage of persons qualified to officiate girls' sports. The solution, Lear said, is to encourage community interest in the girls and their athletic activities.

"Most girl coaches," he added, "are interested in interschool competition, but don't seem interested in the degree of activity involved."

That is, the coaches do not seem, yet, to be prepared to put in five nights a week practicing or attending meets. To comment any further on this aspect, however, would be "chauvinistic."

Will girls' sports ever enjoy the status that boys' sports have now?

Lear pointed to some states, such as Iowa, where the girls' State basketball tournament is as important as that for the boys.

On the other hand, he said, "Equality of funding (between boys and girls sports) should reach a happy medium eventually, though it won't happen soon." For one thing, the Athletic Director pointed out, since girls are not involved in contact sports, the equipment expense will not be as much.

"I don't think you can ask a Board, or a community, in one

New to the program this year will be an Easter Parade of "Mother's Fashions," modeled by the young ladies of the first grade class and narrated by Sue Darre.

The children will go to the Terrace Nursing Home in Waukegan, April 4, to entertain the residents there. This is the fifth year that the Rhythm Band has gone to the nursing home.

The first Rhythm Band was formed seven years ago by Mrs. Young and was so successful that it was continued with each ensuing first grade class.

The instruments used consist of child-sized drums, tambourines, triangles, trumpets, clarinets, saxaphones, a "flugelhorn," and one glockenspiel. Mrs. Young obtains the instruments wherever possible, at auctions, resale shops, rummage sales, etc.

The triangles were made by

Mr. Ken Young out of round brass curtain rods. The capes were made five years ago. The hats were also made by Mrs. Young out of gallon bleach bottles, with visors made from used x-ray film painted black.

"Trio!" Begins April 20

PM&L's next production is "Trio!" Playdates at the PM&L Theatre, 877 Main Street in Antioch, are April 20, 26, 27 and May 3 and 4. Curtain time for all performances is 8:30 p.m. "Trio!", directed by Don Beveroth, is an imaginatively conceived evening's program of three one-act plays. These are "The Dirty Old Man," "Riders to the Sea", and "Fumed Oak." The cast of the first of these features Lou Jones, who sensitively portrays the dirty old man, and Terry Rosol, who makes her PM&L debut as the young girl with whom he shares a portion of his otherwise lonely life.

"Riders to the Sea" by J.M. Synge, has long been regarded as one of the best one-act plays ever written in the English language. This stark drama deals with Irish peasant life along the coast of the angry and violent sea. Its cast features Shirley Jensen as Maurya, and Lyn Zahler and Pat Unnerstall as Cathleen and Nora, Maurya's daughters.

"Fumed Oak," by Noel Coward, is concerned with the lackluster married life of Henry Gow, a henpecked husband. According to Noel Coward, "anybody" could play the part of Henry Gow. In the PM&L production Tessa Smith and Aileen Biel are cast as his wife and mother-in-law, each more shrewish than the other; and Susan Allen plays his "awful" daughter, Henpecked husbands

PET CENTER

CARE OF RABBITS

Most pet rabbits are of the English, short-haired variety although there are several "fancy" breeds that are quite common. Pet rabbits are great favorites with children for they are thoroughly domesticated, gentle, easy to care for and not commonly subject to fleas, lice or other vermin.

Environment: Rabbits should be housed in wooden or metal hutches (cages) that are equipped with wire mesh floors. The mesh allows for cleaner living habits for your pet. You may find the metal hutches more adaptable for the thorough disinfecting that is required.

Rabbits can be housed outdoors or in unheated rooms. The most satisfactory temperature range is between 65° and 75°F. Keep the hutch area well ventilated to assure free circulation of fresh air.

When handling your pet, gentleness is required. Grasp the loose skin over the shoulders with one hand and support the rabbit's weight by placing the other hand under its rump. Never handle a rabbit by its ears or legs.

Say, have you heard about the "reluctant streaker" who almost made it into the pub last week, ski mask and tee shirt. . . . heard him exclaim as he was going out the door, do you think anybody recognized me?????

Floyd and June Garrison just returned from St. Petersburg Florida after spending time with daughter Donna, who will be student teaching there for awhile.

LaVerne and Joyce Woods are "back to the old grind" after 4 days in Dallas Texas for the Independent Banker's Association convention. Highlight of the trip was a stop in Fort Worth on the way home to visit old friends. Wasn't any too warm there either.

On March 27, members of the Antioch Mental Health Association will spend the morning touring Grove School for the multi-handicapped children. A delicious box lunch prepared for the ladies by Dolly Speirring will be served following the tour of the new residential building.

WHAT IS C.P.R.??? It may just save your life. Watch for further information forthcoming from the Rescue Squad in this newspaper.

A special thanks from Kate Verkest to everyone who sent her get well wishes during her hospitalization for eye surgery. She's doing fine and really appreciated such thoughtfulness.

Former residents Shirley and Marv Toepper will be celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary on April 2. Their new address is Rte 2, Box 6, Cass Lake, MN 56633. Why not drop them a card with your good wishes. Congrats you two. May you have 25 more happy years together. How's that cabin cleaning going?

Mrs. Helen Sterbenz tells us about a new club that has been formed in the area. She came out of her home and saw three young children picking up papers and empty beer cans from the lawn. When she asked them what they were doing, they told her they had formed a "Clean Club" and were cleaning up the area. She didn't know who the kids were, but they were students at Oakland Grade School.

A speedy recovery to Art Wegner and Caroly Horan who are in Victory Memorial Hospital and to Ellen Flint who is in St. Clare's Hospital in Monroe, Wisconsin, Room 379. Glad to hear Amy Laurin is getting back on her feet again.

Vicki Schulmeister, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Schulmeister, played second chair flute in the All Star Band Concert comprised of all Wisconsin Synod Lutheran Schools.

Remember! This Sunday the Antioch High School Band will present its Spring Concert at 3:30 p.m. in the auditorium. The kids have worked extra hard to make this a very special concert.

Next Wednesday evening, the St. Peter's 1st Grade Rhythm Band will perform at 8:00 p.m. in the St. Peter's Gym. This little group is really something to see and they do quite well for being so young. Try to get out to see them and encourage them on to bigger and better bands.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Moran of Trevor Wisconsin celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on March 20 with family and friends. Belated anniversary greetings are in order for Marilyn and Joe Sterbenz who celebrated on St. Patty's Day and to Mr. and Mrs. Sterbenz, Sr. who celebrated on the 21st. Boy Marilyn, between daughter Lynn's successful operation, winning all those prizes, and all these anniversaries, you really had a lot of celebrating to do. By the way, you were super on TV.

Presenting the trophy they won at the Northwest Basketball tournament on March 16 are the 8th grade cheerleaders of the Antioch Upper Grade School. (l to r) front: Nancy Sedar and Beth McClellan. Back: Chris Bailey, Mr. Herbst, Principal, Vicki Wiegert, Ricci Yanka, Maria Grippando and Deanne Haviland.

Her husband Ben Darda and many friends danced to the lively tunes of the Rising Sun Band under the direction of Ben Darda on drums; Vickie Darda, piano; Tom Getz, saxophone; and Ted Ashford, bass. After a delicious meal and more dancing everyone left with happy thoughts of a very enjoyable evening.

A very loving birthday wish to Gary Rush who will be 20 on March 29th. Birthday wishes are also in order for Vince Dulaney who celebrates on the 27th, to Fannie Lemker on the 29th and to Ruth Calloway, Jim Glenn, Florence Yucus, Tom Poernich and Jerry Van Patten who celebrate on the 30th. audience, "We have to clean it (the Chain) for the fishes' sake and for the people's sake. It can be done, and if we all get together and work at it, we can come up with a great success story."

The hopes of those who came out in the cold and rain to express their concern about the Chain found voice in Commission member State Rep. John Matejovich of North Chicago. He said, "The Commission is in being because we don't want the Chain of Lakes to become a slough. We want to maintain the Chain as the State's primary, foremost recreational waterway."

The Commission will meet again April 5. Another public hearing is set for Friday, April 19, beginning at 1:00 in the Fox Lake Village Hall. At that time, Anthony Dean, director of the Illinois Department of Conservation will be grilled by Commission members as to the Department's policy concerning the Chain.

Speaking for his colleagues, Commission Chairman Bill Brook expressed chagrin that Dean had indicated that he could not find time in his schedule to appear before the Commission until that date. He urged those at last Friday's hearing to come to the April 19 meeting prepared to present Dean with their problems and questions.

Everyone has some ESP - Woman's Club told

Everyone has ESP to some degree, said Libby Chartok, speaking to members of the Antioch Woman's Club at their March 18th meeting.

She demonstrated this by having the assembly take part in an exercise which somewhat proved her point. Miss Chartok is a teacher of Occult Sciences at the Waukegan YMCA.

She told of Edgar Casey, a psychic, who could diagnose illnesses while in a trance; and of an English woman who wrote poetry by automatic writing.

A person's subconscious knows everything, and if someone feels he has been in a certain place previously, it actually means he will come to that place again, explained Miss Chartok. Reincarnation is a fact but not in the sense that you will return in a different form. It is termed a genetic or cerebral memory.

Taro cards, Ouija boards and tea leaves, used honestly, can foretell future events, she said.

Miss Chartok showed some automatic drawings which she made over a period of a year. These were similar to ancient art works found in Peru. She also spoke briefly of astro travel

(out of body travel) and further the Russians claimed to have photographed the Aura which surrounds human beings.

The AWC Literary Group will meet at the home of Ruth Jedele on March 28th.

A nominating committee to select officer candidates for the 1974-75 season was appointed and includes Joan Toft, chairman, Ruth Jedele, Lillie Petty, Diane Risch, Joyce Woods and Shirley Stanich.

The next meeting of the AWC will be held in the First National Bank's Community Room on Monday, April 1st at 1 p.m. Members will vote on some changes in the by-laws.

Herbert H. Duenow, Pastor of the Washburn Congregational Church in Half Day, will give a book review of Gore Vidal's new book "Burr." Was Aaron Burr a traitor or was he framed because of political chicanery? He will detail characterizations of our founding fathers as they were written in Aaron Burr's journal, all of it historical.

President Fern Watson announced that the closing luncheon meeting will be held on Monday, May 6th at the Fox Lake County Club. Complete details will be mailed to members

So - come one - come all and listen to Mamie McCormack (tenor), Linda Carter (lead), Dale Sprinez (baritone), and Judy Tuimes (bass) in barber shop quartet favorites.

Students edge Faculty to benefit Future Upper Grade Sports Program

The students at the Antioch Upper Grade School are able to dominate the faculty in at least one area.

They proved that fact Thursday night, March 21, as the girls took three straight volleyball matches from the ladies, and the boys edged out the men on the basketball court.

Student Bob Glover submitted the following report:

The 8th grade basketball team of the Upper Grade School beat the "faculty streakers" by a score of 59-55. The students got off to a good start, scoring 15 points and the faculty 8 by the 1st quarter. With still heavy scoring by the students, by the half it was 30-20. The faculty started to catch-up and by the 3rd quarter it was students 39, faculty 36. The fourth and final quarter was a thriller. But, finally the students took it by 4.

We have to add the students received 3 points for each basket, and the faculty streakers 2.

Principal Bill Herbst pointed out that proceeds from the event are placed in a fund to benefit the boys and girls sports programs at the school, if and when they are reinstated by the Board.

Those programs were cut two years ago in a budget-trimming move, as the school was faced with a deficit. Parent volunteers run some athletic programs at the school now, but these are supported wholly by contributions and gate receipts.

"If the sports programs are reinstated," Herbst said, "the money that we've been putting aside from these faculty-students games and similar events could be used to buy some of the nicer things, like a scoreboard, that the School Board might not feel they could afford."

Also at Thursday's game, the cheerleaders presented to the school a trophy they had won. The award was for excellence among junior high cheerleaders at a contest in Lake Forest.

American Legion Auxiliary

"Reach Out - Lend A Helping Hand" is this year's theme for the volunteer field service workers of the Illinois American Legion Auxiliary's Rehabilitation program, according to Mrs. Henry Reinke of Waukegan, State Deputy Downey Hospital Director and 10th District chairman of volunteer field services. (Mrs. Reinke is also a past president of the Antioch Unit.)

"Volunteer field service provides that important link in the gap of adjustment between the hospital and home or nursing home for the veteran. Follow-up is vital to the patient just returned from the hospital. The new method is to get the patient back into community life as quickly as possible. The longer a person has been hospitalized, the more difficult is the adjustment period. He must not come to rely completely on the safety and security of constant hospitalization. Whenever a patient is sent home, his case history is sent to the local doctors and to someone in the community so close contact can be kept with him. The field service worker gives of her time and talents to these veteran's families and to the aging veteran in her own community. She can be his link to his community, and also, his right arm when she helps with the many errands or trips to doctors or hospitals, that he could not perform by himself. These discharged veterans badly need someone who has the patience and understanding to help them overcome their fears and apprehensions as they adjust to daily life in the everyday world," Mrs. Reinke concludes.

Mrs. Richard Stastny of Mundelein, State Downey Hospital Director, says that the 10th District Auxiliary will soon be holding an orientation course for the volunteer field service workers under the rehabilitation program in the near future. Although the 10th District now has a number of women who have completed this seminar and are already qualified workers, many more volunteers are still badly needed. For further information regarding this phase of the rehabilitation program, the following local rehabilitation chairmen should be contacted: Mrs. John L. Horan, Antioch; and Mrs. John Koller of Lake Villa.

On March 29th, the 10th District American Legion and the Auxiliary will be honoring the Vietnam veterans at a dinner party to be held at the Homer, Dahringer American Legion Home in Waukegan. Cocktail hour is from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m., with dinner at 7:30 p.m. Many distinguished persons are to be present to pay homage to these Vietnamese veterans. Featured speaker will be the Administrator of the Veterans' Administration of Washington, D.C., Donald E. Johnson, who is also a part National Commander of the American Legion. Another past National Commander of the Legion, John Geiger of Broadview, Illinois, will act as Master of Ceremonies. State Commander Ralph Coop of Minooka, Illinois, State Auxiliary President Mrs. William Stringer of Oak Park, Illinois, and many other high state officials will be there. Top officers from the armed services, the new VA Director at Downey and Al Lynch, Veterans' Assistance Officer at Downey, a Vietnam veteran and holder of this nation's highest award in attendance and the special guests, the Vietnam veterans.

After dinner and the program, there will be dancing until the late hours. All who have been planning on attending this affair, are promised an outstanding evening and one long to be remembered.

Thirty attend OSHA Seminar

Thirty representatives of Antioch area companies attended an all-day seminar Tuesday, March 19, at the Arbor Resort, concerning the federal Occupational Safety and Health Act. The seminar was given by the National Safety Council and sponsored by the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry.

According to a Chamber official, the session was a survey of what OSHA involves, what a business might be checked on, and how to keep the necessary records. Each participant received an informational packet containing a copy of the OSHA Act, a list of penalties for violation of the standards in the Act, samples of record keeping forms, and other booklets on record keeping.

The Chamber official said that the representatives of the National Safety Council will come back whenever there are at least 20 people interested in such a seminar. She added that the program could be slanted to retail, as well as industrial interests.

Fire damages Ronald Scott house

Fire apparently caused by an electrical short caused moderate damage Thursday to a house owned by Ronald Scott. The house is located at the corner of Deep Lake Rd. and Spruce Drive.

Fire Chief Tod Maplethorpe said that the fire had its origin possibly in an electrical well pump, or in the electrical service itself.

Firemen were on the scene for about one hour.

WOMEN OF THE MOOSE

The Green Cap Chapter night program was called to order by Senior Regent June Ballenger, who then introduced Chairman Karen Bartuska.

The College of Regents escorted Grand Council Member Marge Walsh, guest speaker for the evening, into the Chapter room and presented her at the Senior Regent's station.

The Chairman then turned the gavel over to Lucille Tolonen, guest Senior Regent for the evening, to conduct the Chapter Meeting.

After the introduction of all the Collegians, the Charter was draped in loving memory of our co-worker Mildred Frasemer.

The Chapter then proceeded with the enrollment of new candidates. Regular members are: Rose Robinson, Erma Koziol, Lillian Hohmann, Mary Diloo, Lillian Sorenson. Home Chapter member is Debbie Behnke.

Guest Speaker Marge Walsh then spoke of Junior Graduate Regent Karen Bartuska's record of chairs she held during her membership. She also entertained the co-workers very much with her list of accomplishments of the W.O.T.M. at Mooseheart and Moosehaven. We really learned where all our contributions go and do the most good.

Karen had the Guides escort all the guest Green Cap co-workers to the altar where she presented each of them with a gift. Chapters represented were: Aurora, Batavia, Waukegan, River Grove, Zion-Benton, Fox Lake, Cicero, Elmhurst, Chicago No. 110, and Janesville, Wis. Also present were members from Morton Grove, and Chicago No. 129.

After a report was heard from Moosehaven Committee by Chairman Berniece Ahlert, Junior Graduate Regent Karen Bartuska was escorted to the altar where she was presented with a gift from the Chapter to say "Thank You" for her years of service as Senior Regent and Junior Graduate Regent.

After the Senior Regent introduced the Governor and the members of the Loyal Order, the meeting was adjourned to meet again April 4, for the Membership Committee Chapter Night program when Nancy Barnstable will entertain the Chapter with instructions on making a Terrarium.

Jesus Rally

Jewish ex-leftist radical Arthur Katz will speak at the Jesus Rally at McCormick Place on Thursday, April 4, 1974. The lecturer, world traveller, and author of "Ben Israel-The Spiritual Odyssey of a Modern Man" (soon to be a major motion picture) challenges both Jew and Gentile about the place of God in their lives today.

Katz has spoken and debated students at Harvard, UCLA, Ohio, Illinois, Kansas, Nebraska, Berkeley and other schools. He has appeared frequently on radio and televitheir new daughter Casey Lynn. Little Casey only weighed 4 lbs 9 oz. when she arrived on March 9th. Therefore she was unable to come home from the hospital until March 21st. Eagerly awaiting her arrival home along with mom and dad were her 5 year old sister Jeri and 3 year old brother John.

Let me know the news. Louise

"Hindsight's Better Than Foresight"

By Father Keusal

In many of the past articles the concept of relationship has been brought up directly, indirectly and in a variety of other possible ways. The relationship between God and man, is not one that is expendable, nor is the relationship of one human being to another. However, the first cannot exist without the second. The relationship between man and God is measured by the relationships man has with each other --- spouse, friend, relative and neighbors.

The relationships of spouses has to be one of the most intimate relationships allowed to mankind. Statistics are showing that even the relationships of spouses are being destroyed, along with other beautiful facts of life. These statistics show that the overall national divorce rate is over forty percent. The divorce rate for those under the age of twenty is over eighty percent. What's left after the family is legally destroyed?

Trust is what a relationship must have if it is to succeed. If you can't trust your husband or wife, mother, father, brother, sister, how can you trust a friend, employer, employee, a relative, anyone, or how can you be trusted by anyone of them. A family, community, nation needs trust if the relationship is to develop and grow.

Trust means doing what you ought to keep the relationship alive. "What you ought" might be demanding, cost a lot of selflessness, a lot of giving. But can you think of anything more worth working for than the relationship of another human being with whom you have nothing to fear and care enough to share human warmth, love and mutual concern. Only after we can have a true relationship with another human being can we have a true relationship with God.

6th Annual Selective Service System lottery drawing held

"The sixth annual Selective Service System Lottery Drawing was held March 20, 1974 in Washington, D.C., underscoring the role the System continues to play by law in the Nation's defense posture," LTC W. Robert Kinscherff, State Director of the Selective Service System, said today.

"Men born in 1955 will be assigned lottery numbers based on today's drawing," he remarked. "These registrants will comprise the available pool during calendar year 1975. Even though no one is being inducted at the present time, a pool is necessary in the event the Congress restores the induction authority to the President."

Our country is now at peace with all nations; however, the Selective Service System under the provisions of the Military Selective Service Act continues as a vital part of the national defense.

Every male citizen of the country is still required by law to register with the Selective Service System within the 60-day period beginning 30 days prior to his 18th birthday.

LTC Kinscherff said the annual Lottery Drawing has been held since 1969 and will continue to be held each year to determine Random Sequence Numbers for young men who reach their 19th birthday during that year. These numbers will determine their vulnerability for induction in case a national

"Those registrants born in 1955 with numbers 1 - 95," Kinscherff remarked, "will be subject to reclassification from their present holding classification of Class 1-H and would be the most vulnerable to induction in the year in which they reach 20."

A young man is to register for Selective Service either 30 days prior to or within 30 days after his 18th birthday. The boy that is attending Antioch High School may accomplish his registration at the school by contacting Mr. William Seemann.

Kevin O'Neill on U. of Dubuque Baseball Team

For the fourth year, Kevin O'Neill of Antioch is a member of the University of Dubuque (Iowa) baseball team.

Kevin, son of Mrs. Catherine O'Neill of 322 Cedarwood Lane, Antioch, is an outfielder for the team. He joins only five other returning veterans, among 19 men on the team.

Coach Rich Solomon says that if player turnout is any indication, this year's team should be much more successful than last year's, which compiled a season record of 8-15 and finished last in the conference. Last year only 11 men tried out for the team.

Veteran race driver Jack Ester of Antioch will come out of a five year retirement to race in the late model classes at the Waukegan Speedway this year. Ester, pictured above in the Chevy II which carried him to six feature wins in 1966 at Waukegan, intends to enter the opening night races Saturday, April 6th with a 1969 Chevelle.

Jack Ester to come out of retirement for Stock Car opener

Jack Ester, a 34 year old stock car veteran, will be coming out of retirement to race at the late model stock car opener Saturday night April 6th at the Waukegan Speedway. Ester hung up his helmet following the 1968 season when he moved and went into business for himself.

Racing out of Antioch, Ester has purchased a 1969 Chevelle to start the year and has another late model under construction. His Chevelle will be in the race car show Friday through Sunday (March 29 through 31) at the Belvidere Mall.

The Biggest change for Ester will be the paved track, as the Waukegan oval was clay surfaced until the 1969 season. On the clay Ester ranked second in late model points in 1964 and third in 1966, when he won six feature races. His final season (1968) saw a sixth place ranking at the end of the year.

Opening night at Waukegan Speedway April 6

Over 30 late model super stock car drivers will be out to prove that winning the opening night feature at the Waukegan Speedway is no jinx as they start in their pursuit of the track championship Saturday night April 6th at 8:00 p.m.

Over the past ten seasons, only two drivers have won the opening feature and gone on to win the season's point title. Johnny Reimer turned the trick in 1964 in the modified class and Ray Young did likewise driving a late model super stock in 1970.

At least four former Waukegan champions figure to be in the opening night's field when the Speedway officially opens the stock car racing season for Northern Illinois. J.P. Gatti, Jr. of Arlington Heights ('69 Camaro No. 7) won last year's late model sportsman title and will enter the same car he raced last year.

George Dukas of Zion ('72 Camaro No. 64) has an all-new racer for the super stock action

Race car display at Belvidere Mall

The auto racing season at the Waukegan Speedway opens Saturday night April 6th, but the first event for the late model stock car drivers and cars this year will be a free race car display March 29, 30 and 31 at the Belvidere Mall in Waukegan.

It will include both late model sportsman and late model super stock cars and on Saturday from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. there will be a special photo and autograph session with many of the leading drivers participating.

Jack agrees the change to the asphalt track will be a big challenge, but he is quick to add that the competition will probably be stiffer this year than ever before, too. Ester was one of the pioneers of shorter wheel-base cars when he brought his white No. 99 Chevy II stocker to the track for the 1966 season. This year defending champion Bob Roper of Chicago has entered a 1974 Chevrolet Vega and Ester picks him as the man to beat.

Late model super stock racing is scheduled every Saturday night in April and then will switch to Sunday nights in May. Late model sportsman cars will take over the Saturday card in May and continue there through September.

The Speedway is located 1/4-mile east of Route 41 on Washington Street near Waukegan. Its weather phone is (312) 662-8200.

March 29 designated Vietnam Veteran's Day

The Recruit Training Command Graduation on Friday, March 29, will be dedicated to all Vietnam Veterans in commemoration of Vietnam Veteran's Day.

March 29 was designated Vietnam Veterans' Day by presidential proclamation to honor all those who served in the Southwest Asian conflict. This marks the date the last combat soldier left Vietnam in 1973.

Radm Kane stated that this special event offers the people of Great Lakes an opportunity to show their gratitude to those valiant men who served their country through this most trying of conflicts and to appropriately recognize the sacrifices made by these men and their families.

Sequoits win 79% of basketball games season wrap-up

The Antioch High School varsity basketball team compiled a 79 percent winning record on their way to winning the McHenry Regional and representing the area in the Rockford Sectional tournament. The team's 22 wins were marred by only 6 losses.

The Sequoits earned 1,891 points during the entire season, for an average of 67.5 per game. Meanwhile, they allowed their opponents only 1,572 points, or 56.1 per game.

High points of the season for the team included: championship of the Barrington Thanksgiving tournament, undefeated record in the conference and conference championship, fourth place in the Rockford Holiday Classic, championship in the Regional tournament, ninth place ranking in State Area Ratings, and 12 straight victories during the season.

Individual honors achieved by team members include: All-State, special and honorable mention, Mark Andrews. All-Area, special mention, Andrews; honorable mention, Vic McGuire, Mike Perrone. All-County, Andrews, Perrone, Russ Albano; honorable mention, McGuire, Mike Gutowski. WKRS All-Area, Andrews, Perrone; honorable mention, Albano, Gutowski, McGuire. All-Conference, Andrews, McGuire, All-Tourney, Barrington, Andrews, Gutowski, Rockford, Andrews.

More importantly, team members voted the following honors: Most Valuable Player, Mark Andrews, Team Captain, Mark Andrews. Most Improved Player, Bill Simonsen.

Four new school records were set this season. Mike Perrone surpassed Jeff Williams' and Vic McGuire's field goal shooting percentages of 54 percent, with a rate of 56.8 percent.

Mark Andrews' 177 assists this season were better than Tim Mierure's 153 three years ago. Andrews' 8 recoveries in the Warren game were also more than Mierure's 6 against Grayslake in 1972.

And, of course, the team broke the school's record for number of wins in one conference season. The 14-0 record this year was better than the 13-0 in 1966-67 or the 12-0 gained in 1953-54.

GASOLINE CRISIS OVER !
Gasoline shortages continue to worry drivers. Many are concerned that rationing will soon begin, with the possibility of prices soaring to seventy-five cents a gallon, or not being able to get more than ten gallons per week.
